

Questions are displayed on a shared screen, and players answer on their devices.

A challenge is a self-paced game where questions and answers are displayed on the player's device.

